"The impact is in the perpetuity of financial support. The impact will in fact be seen, year after year, through the lens of our not-for-profit sector as they address local priorities, working hard and successfully toward creating caring communities where everyone thrives. The larger the endowment, the bigger the impact, the more everyone thrives. Forever!" Deborah M. Currie, Board Chair

A message from our Board Chair

The past two years have gone by so quickly. As I wind down my term as Board Chair, I can't help but reflect on my journey with Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation (KWCF) and be thankful for the numerous opportunities I've had to learn, grow and get to know Waterloo Region better than I knew it before. I am constantly inspired by the passion, commitment and generosity of our volunteers, our Donors and our Fundholders, and am completely in awe of our community's relentless not-for-profit leaders, who work tirelessly toward building a strong social environment where no one is left behind.

There has, however, been one consistent question that I have been asked over the past eight years: What impact does KWCF have on our community?

For me, it's simple. Since inception, the Foundation has collected, pooled and invested over $100M from philanthropists and organizations looking to forever make a difference in our community. Income earned by the permanent funds is distributed to support a broad range of community agencies, while the original investment is left to grow over time.

The impact is in the perpetuity of financial support. The impact will in fact be seen, year after year, through the lens of our not-for-profit sector as they address local priorities, working hard and successfully toward creating caring communities where everyone thrives. The larger the endowment, the bigger the impact, the more everyone thrives. Forever! I happen to think that this is a big, and unique, impact for our community.

Over the past year, KWCF has continued to thrive and adapt in our own way to the needs of our stakeholders and our community. Alongside our traditional investment portfolio, we remain committed to making impact loans to organizations doing social good, and are working collaboratively with MaRS Centre for Impact Investing, Waterloo Region Barnraisers Council and House of Friendship to develop a case study as a community resource to guide others interested in this funding path. To that end, KWCF was thrilled to have Tim Jackson join our Board in 2018. Tim has an extensive background in Impact Investing and was a member of the Canadian Task Force on Social Finance. His invaluable expertise and advice serve KWCF, and our community, very well.

Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation, and the community foundation movement in general, have been a major force in my life for almost a decade. The Foundation has embarked on a significant amount of good work during my tenure on the Board, and I am incredibly proud to have been a part of it. For this reason, I will continue to support the Foundation long after I've left this wonderful Board of exceptional and committed community champions and the incredibly dedicated staff team that cares so deeply for Waterloo Region. I will look forward to watching KWCF navigate, evolve and innovate over the next 10 years.

A message

2018 was an exciting year at Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation. We rolled out a refreshed brand and aligned everything we do with our vision of "Making It Easy for People to Do More Good." Recently, we also updated our values to ensure the beliefs that drive our behaviours and results continue to resonate with the community.

Let's talk about KWCF values in action

This has been a year of developing and seizing opportunities. We believe it is critical to the success of KWCF to be catalysts for positive change. Our screening of the documentary The Invisible Heart was done to fuel conversation specifically about social impact bonds and impact investments more broadly as a mechanism to fund social and environmental initiatives across the region. The introduction of the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) as an additional lens in our work is another example of how we are continuing to explore new approaches to deal with critical community issues.

from our President & CEO

Strategic initiatives and investments made on behalf of the community need to make measurable and sustainable impacts in the communities we serve. In 2018, we provided 558 grants totalling in excess of $3.1 Million to 238 local charities and organizations. Since inception, KWCF has granted more than $47 Million; since 2017 we've deployed approximately $2 Million in impact investments. In 2019, we will be working on tools to measure impact and report back on our findings.

As you know, the financial markets retreated into negative territory in 2018. Following seven solid years of positive performance, we had investment returns of -0.4% on our investment pool. After the last market correction, our Board of Directors insightfully planned ahead for this type of year and implemented a granting stabilization policy to allow Fundholders to grant in years of lower returns. This forward-thinking approach will keep granting in 2019 relatively flat to 2018 levels. We understand the stewardship responsibility that has been entrusted to us, and we will continue to work with our dedicated and experienced Investment Committee to balance preservation of funds with maximizing investment returns.

We are a community foundation. So it is important that we engage voices from across our community. We believe in making connections, being inclusive and valuing diversity. In 2018, we made a concentrated effort to reach out to charitable organizations that may not have partnered with us before. We also increased the number of volunteers on our Committees to both manage the growth in grant and impact investment requests as well as to ensure broad representation that mirrors the diversity of our community.

Whether it's an alignment with the Homelessness Housing Umbrella Group (HHUG) to develop the ALL IN 2020 Fund to end chronic homelessness, or with Communitech to launch a pilot partnership to connect the tech industry with opportunities for community impact, we understand relationships matter. This is a region filled with barnraisers, and we will continue to actively collaborate to leverage our community's collective knowledge, expertise and resources to achieve the best results.

The current social environment has challenges that we recognize, but we are also energized by the possibilities. At KWCF, we are committed to being impact-focused catalysts who are collaborative, inclusive and trustworthy. With the support of our Fundholders, Donors and partners, we will continue to Do More Good. Forever. Together.

Innovation in philanthropy

Over the past 18 months, members of KWCF's team have spent a lot of time in the community speaking with individuals and groups about innovation, and more specifically about innovation in philanthropy. These discussions, along with feedback we have received from Fundholders and Committee Members as well as the expertise and input of our Board, have caused us to think differently about what we offer in order to fulfill our role in the community.

More accessible and more options for Fundholders and Donors

- KWCF reduced the minimum amount required to establish a fund from $25,000 to $5,000. This provides the opportunity for people to start a fund earlier in life and make decisions about their granting as they go through natural life events. It also allows families the chance to share with their children—first-hand—about the joy of helping others and the importance of community building.
- Donors continue to be able to give to KWCF to support any fund, with taxable receipts for any donation of $20 or more. If those donations have been directed to KWCF's Community Fund, and your total accumulated donation reaches $5,000, we will automatically reach out to you to offer the establishment of a Named Fund within the Community Fund to honour your legacy of giving, or provide you with the option of having that fund named after a loved one.
- On pages 23 & 24, we have highlighted how KWCF is channelling more dollars into the community through impact investments while earning financial returns that drive our grant making. We have created a new fund for Donors interested in joining us on this journey by having their gift invested 100% for impact while they continue to personally make granting decisions based on their fund's investment returns.

If we work together, and have the courage and confidence to embrace new opportunities, we will uncover new approaches to philanthropy in our community. Just imagine the possibilities if we infuse everything we do with innovation!

More assistance to our Charitable Organization Partners

- We know that applying for a grant isn't always easy. In 2018, we replaced our Grant Information Sessions with a Grant Video Series that is kept current and available 24/7 so our charitable partners can get the information they need when they need it.
- We updated our grant application forms and process to reduce the number of questions and eliminate the need to repeat information that we already received, and we shortened our grant evaluation forms. This benefits the charities by freeing up capacity to focus on the important work they are doing in the community.
- KWCF collaborated with partners across our region to explore ways to more effectively direct our combined resources so that a greater impact is generated. For example, we partnered with Social Venture Partners to support 2018 Perfect Pitch and with Capacity Canada so they could offer a storytelling session by Andy Goodman. Both initiatives were focused on helping local charities share their organizations' stories in more impactful ways to increase awareness and reach their fundraising goals.

More feedback, collaboration and implementation of ideas

- In 2017, rather than continue to lead Vital Signs as a separate initiative, KWCF joined a community-led initiative called Wellbeing Waterloo Region to improve the well-being of individuals across Waterloo Region. In 2018, Wellbeing Waterloo Region identified three major priority areas: Affordable Housing, Healthy Children and Youth, and Social Inclusion. To align with the needs identified by our community, KWCF focused our community granting and impact investments on those areas.
- In July, we announced a pilot partnership with Communitech to connect the tech industry with opportunities for community impact. Gerry Remers joined as a Community Impact Coach to provide support to tech companies in the alignment of their community engagement with their business objectives. We are still early days in assessing this approach, but initial feedback is positive.

"We are pleased to be able to partner with HHUG and the organizations involved with the Affordable Housing Catalyst Group for Wellbeing Waterloo Region to support this important initiative."

- Elizabeth Heald, President & CEO, KWCF

While the previous provincial government set a commitment date of 2025 to end chronic homelessness, Waterloo Region has raised the stakes by aiming to achieve the goal five years early, which will make it the first mid-sized municipality in Canada to do so.

ALL IN 2020, a campaign led by the Homelessness Housing Umbrella Group (HHUG) and Wellbeing Waterloo Region (WWR), is focused on raising the $700,000 needed to house approximately 260 people by November 2020.

Waterloo Region goes ALL IN to end chronic homelessness

The funds raised will be used to provide rent subsidies to those transitioning from homeless to housing, and to set up a repair fund to incentivize landlords to participate in the program.

Chronic homelessness describes people who have been homeless for six months or more during the past year. Many of these people have complex needs when it comes to mental and physical health and addiction.

The ALL IN 2020 campaign is asking everyone in Waterloo Region to become part of the solution in a variety of ways. It calls on landlords to offer up their units and asks the public to break down stereotypes about people who are homeless and living with health issues and addictions.

With "Affordable Housing" being one of WWR's key priority areas, this campaign is a reflection of the region's commitment to housing everyone in the community. The campaign also supports the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goal of "Sustainable Cities and Communities."

For Lynn Macaulay, Executive Director of ALL IN 2020, this campaign will be beneficial to the people it will house and the region as a whole. "Providing long-term solutions rather than responding to the symptoms of homelessness saves money and is a much more effective use of community resources," says Lynn.

"We look forward to the day when no one in Waterloo Region is experiencing chronic homelessness. When this day arrives, not only will the quality of life improve for the people who now have a place to call home, but the health and wellness of the entire community will improve as well."

KWCF has partnered with HHUG and WWR in its commitment to accept donations and administer the ALL IN 2020 Fund, and has matched the first $25,000 in donations.

For anyone looking to support the ALL IN 2020 campaign, you can visit www.hhug.ca or contact a member of the KWCF team to donate. You can also join HHUG's mailing list and find out how you can be a housing hero and help to end chronic homelessness in Waterloo Region.

A family, a business and a Community

"My grandfather started Cober 103 years ago and this region has supported our growth over these many decades. We feel it is the right thing to do to try to give back when we can."

- Peter Cober

When a company's brand promise is "success through collaboration." a long-standing partnership is inevitable.

For Peter Cober, President of Cober, giving back to the community is part of a centuryold relationship between the company and Waterloo Region.

Peter says that partnering with KWCF is a way to support many organizations and causes throughout the community, a community that has supported Cober throughout its long history.

"Waterloo Region has survived many ups and downs and has always helped us weather these storms. I see KWCF as doing the same to support our Region," Peter explains. "They make intelligent decisions on where the needs of the community are most critical and make sure the funds go to the charitable organizations addressing those issues. If you look at the support that KWCF has, you can easily see that it is respected by many industry leaders and the philanthropic community."

For over 17 years Cober has donated the costs of printing and distribution of KWCF's annual reports. In 2018, they were also instrumental in helping KWCF through an important rebrand. Cober is highly regarded as a versatile supplier of traditional and digital print, interactive and integrated marketing services which focus on strategy and driving measurable results. The incredible team at Cober has utilized this creative and innovative approach to produce updated materials for KWCF.

Cober also lends its support to a wide variety of other charitable organizations throughout Waterloo Region and beyond, supporting the arts, medical research, recreational activities and other not-for-profit endeavours. A strong team spirit exists within the company and that spirit carries through to their employees' interest in supporting community.

Cober has developed a reputation of goodwill over the past 100 years within our community that is well deserved. So it is only fitting they should receive thanks from KWCF for their continued support and collaborative partnership. Visit www.cobersolutions.com to learn more about this community-minded business.

What started as an idea from a neighbourhood resident has become one of Extend-A-Family Waterloo Region's flagship programs.

The KW Library of Things has brought a community together, created employment opportunities for people facing barriers, and become a model for sustainability in Waterloo Region.

"It is important for us that our work supports our future, and the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals have really broadened our understanding of that. We hope that being given the opportunity to share the various ways we are working towards these goals encourages others to consider how they can also target their amazing work towards global and sustainable good."

Kim Sproul,
 Community Development Coordinator

The KW Library of Things, which opened in 2018, is a place where people can borrow infrequently used items such as tools, garden equipment, kitchen appliances or camping gear—saving money and the environment while supporting our community.

A sustainable library of things

Extend-A-Family Waterloo Region's Community Development Coordinator, Kim Sproul, outlined the rationale for this program perfectly. "Not every person needs to own a drill if that drill is available for use by multiple people. One person may use a drill for 7 minutes in its lifetime. Outside of that, it sits, unused, on a shelf, until it eventually makes its way to the landfill."

For $40 a year, members of the KW Library of Things can borrow up to 10 items at a time and attend workshops hosted by other members and volunteers. The workshops aim to enable community members to take on projects by learning new skills.

"At the workshops, community members can participate in learning activities at their comfort level, gradually become familiar with how to use equipment safely and then begin to tackle projects with their new skills," says Murray Zink, who teaches the All Saws Saturday workshop.

For Murray, sharing his skills is part of a greater community-building approach. "I want to contribute in a way so projects that a community member once considered not possible become possible."

The KW Library of Things is also breaking barriers for the people it will employ to help run it. The organization is currently creating positions to hire individuals who have faced barriers to employment, offering flexible working hours and liveable wages.

The library has not only supported Wellbeing Waterloo Region's key priority area of "Social Inclusion," as well as the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals of "No Poverty," "Decent Work and Economic Growth," and "Responsible Consumption and Production"; it has used them as principles to guide how they can continue to grow and inspire others in the process.

Thanks to investments from Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation, the KW Library of Things has been able to provide additional work stations, increase its space to store items, and add items to its inventory. This has enabled the library to increase its membership and offer supports and services to the community that are being updated and improved on a regular basis.

The KW Library of Things is located at 91 Moore Ave in Kitchener. To learn more about how to donate to the library or become a member, visit www.kwlot.ca.

Children's literacy: the great equalizer

"By the time children reach Grade 3, they transition from learning to read, to reading to learn. If they can't read, it's going to impact their ability to learn and communicate. When this happens, a lot of children withdraw from the learning process and it opens the door to even more concerns, such as disengagement from school, low self-esteem and lack of confidence."

- Machelle Denison, Executive Director

"Healthy Children and Youth" is one of Wellbeing Waterloo Region's key priority areas. For Strong Start's Executive Director, Machelle Denison, recognizing the connection between literacy and healthy brain development in children is vital.

Two high-impact programs offered by Strong Start are Letters, Sounds and Words™ and Get Ready for School™.

Letters, Sounds and Words is a 10-week program that targets children in Senior Kindergarten and Grade 1 who need a literacy boost. They are paired with trained community volunteers who go into schools to work one-on-one with children, playing carefully designed games and activities. The program is organized in four strands that help children learn the names of letters, a sound each letter represents, how to recognize words by sight, and how to build a word using the sounds of its letters.

Get Ready for School is a program for pre-schoolers during the six month period before entering Junior Kindergarten. Throughout 44 classes, children build vocabulary, learn letter sounds and practice classroom behaviours. The program is particularly beneficial for children who are learning English as a Second Language or for those who are from a low to middle socio-economic background.

According to Machelle, one of the key features of these programs is that they are completely free of charge. "It really is the great equalizer. No matter what your background is, if you are given the resources and help you need to learn to read, you have an equal chance at success."

Strong Start's programs also support many of the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals, including "No Poverty," "Quality Education," "Decent Work and Economic Growth" and "Reduced Inequalities."

"When you consider the immediate and long-term impact that being able to read has on a human being and their life trajectory, there are many linkages to these goals," says Machelle.

In many cases, the programs not only have an impact on the children, but their parents as well. "I was concerned prior to this program that my son wouldn't be ready for Junior Kindergarten in the fall due to a speech delay," says Michelle Delahunty, whose son was in the Get Ready for School program. "This program has not only given me the confidence that he is more than ready for school, but my son is now talking and has taken more from this program than I could have ever imagined."

Grants from Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation have allowed Strong Start to add an additional Get Ready for School program in a designated high-needs neighbourhood, as well as another program servicing rural areas of Waterloo Region. The funding has also assisted the Letters, Sounds and Words program by replenishing the learning materials needed to operate the program and train new volunteers.

Since its inception in 2001, Strong Start has helped nearly 39,000 children learn to read with the help of over 28,000 volunteers.

"This really is a great example of a community rallying around its children, with its time and its money, to help them learn to read. It really does take a village to raise a child," says Machelle.

If you are interested in learning more about Strong Start, visit www.strongstart.ca.

"When we looked back on all of the work that she did to help other people, it was clear to us that the right thing to do was to keep that going."

- Steve Frangakis

For Steve Frangakis, doing more good is essential to keeping his late wife's legacy alive.

When Lynsey Frangakis passed away from brain cancer at the age of 29, she left behind a life's worth of philanthropic work, and there was no way Steve, her family and her friends were ready to let that stop.

A legacy of doing good

Diagnosed with cancer at 23, Lynsey devoted a great deal of her time to helping others: organizing blood drives, raising money for cancer research, and volunteering to help other young adults with cancer. One of her favourite efforts was celebrating her birthday with acts of kindness. It was this that gave Steve the idea of how to celebrate her first birthday since she passed away.

"I knew that I wanted to hold a fundraising event on her birthday to give back to organizations that had helped us along the way," says Steve. "But how this was all going to work and how we were going to keep it going—that's where KWCF came in."

In 2018, Steve reached out to Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation, and with their help created the Firecracker Fund in Memory of Lynsey Frangakis. The name "Firecracker" came from a nickname Lynsey's boss had given her years earlier. On October 28, which would have been Lynsey's 30th birthday, they held their first event, The Firecracker Fund Fall Fun-raiser. The event raised $20,000 to establish the fund.

For Steve, having someone else to manage the fund so he can focus on Lynsey's legacy has made all the difference. "It has been so easy working with KWCF," says Steve. "We can work on fundraising and bringing everyone together, and they take care of all the details like paperwork, investing, and giving out the grants. I'd encourage anyone who wants to do good in their community, or create a legacy for someone, to reach out to an organization like KWCF."

As a Donor Advised Fund, Lynsey's family is able to direct where funds will go on a yearly basis. The Firecracker Fund in Memory of Lynsey Frangakis currently supports three charities that helped Lynsey and her family throughout her cancer journey: Young Adult Cancer Canada, The Ryan Saturno Patient Amenities Fund and Hospice Wellington.

If you are interested in setting up a fund with Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation, or are interested in making a donation of any size to the Community Fund or other funds at KWCF, please visit www.kwcf.ca, and see how you can do more good today.

A family's history of Service

"Our home tended to be occupied by new 'Uncles & Aunties' on a regular basis and our parents would house, feed and assist them in navigating their new surroundings. As is true for all new arrivals, the first few years can be difficult and challenging and we were taught to embrace these challenges with the hard work and positive outlook that our parents embodied."

- Dr. Kan Chhatwal

The Chhatwal family's history of "doing good" has been an adventure of determination, positivity and service. For Dr. Kan Chhatwal, his parents' legacy of community involvement in this country began almost as soon as they arrived.

Kuldeep Singh Chhatwal moved to Canada in 1953 to establish a home for his wife Gina Kaur and their two sons, Kan and Raj, who would follow a year later.

Being among the first Sikhs to immigrate to Canada after the Second World War, Kuldeep and Gina welcomed many newcomers from India and helped them settle into their new lives. Throughout their lives, Kuldeep and Gina continued to support the Sikh community and many other causes, such as the Interfaith Council of Waterloo Region, the Liberal Party of Canada and Kiwanis.

Sadly, Gina passed away in 1983. In her memory, Kuldeep established the Gina Chhatwal Trust (now the Gina and Kuldeep Chhatwal Family Trust).

The trust's objective is simple: "To feed and clothe the poor."

Dr. Chhatwal says his parents' outlook inspired the family to start the trust. "My parents believed that they received a wonderful gift as Canadians and that it was incumbent upon all of us to return the favour," he says. "They taught us the meaning of service."

Kuldeep passed away in 2006, and Dr. Chhatwal, his brother Raj and his son Chad managed the trust themselves for several years. In 2017 their accountant, David Graham, suggested partnering with KWCF by transferring the assets to a Donor Advised Fund. It allows them to achieve the original objective without the administrative burden and related costs of managing a separate trust.

"When we looked into KWCF, we saw all of the great work they are doing and realized that we share many of the same values. We are pleased and excited about partnering with KWCF to continue the original objectives of our parents' teachings, vision and legacy," says Dr. Chhatwal. "We would encourage others to work with organizations like KWCF and serve our community."

KWCF has created a Family Philanthropy Checklist and Family Philanthropy Workbook to help guide you, and your family members, through a process to discuss your philanthropic goals. Both can be found at www.kwcf.ca/family-philanthropy.

Investing for impact

Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation (KWCF) invests in market investments to both grow our assets and ensure we will have funds to support our community in perpetuity. Through successful investing, KWCF granted over $3.1 Million in 2018.

One of the strategies KWCF has embraced to increase our reach is Impact Investing. As a first step, the Board has approved deploying $4 Million of the $80 Million in KWCF's current investment portfolio toward Impact Investing.

With 5% of KWCF's current investment portfolio committed to impact investments and an annual 4% grant distribution based on the total capital invested in endowment funds, KWCF is more than doubling its granting impact by deploying 9% of its endowment toward its philanthropic goals.

The Board approves impact investments as part of KWCF's investment mix, and commits $2 Million to Community Forward Fund

2016

The Board agrees that an additional $2 Million of KWCF's assets should be invested for impact

2017

The first two investments are made:

- Loan to Women's Crisis Services of Waterloo Region for Haven House
- Loan to Housing Cambridge

The Board agrees to deploy $4 Million of KWCF's investment portfolio to impact investments

What is an impact investment?

Impact investments are investments made in companies. organizations and funds with the intention to generate social or environmental impact alongside a financial return.

Why impact investments?

Impact investments have the ability to complement grantmaking to drive greater impact! They can also be a tool to stimulate private-sector innovation and collaboration, encourage market-driven solutions and efficiencies, and attract external capital to charities, non-profits, and other social-purpose businesses.

If you would like to learn more about partnering with KWCF to make impact investments, including establishing your own Donor Advised Fund - Invested for Impact, contact Elizabeth Heald at elizabeth@kwcf.ca or 519-725-1806 x 201.

2018 impact investments

- A loan to Kinbridge Community Association helped renovate their Duncan McIntosh Arena space, and assisted with program expansions to better serve the community. 22,000 residents are served by Kinbridge, of which 45% of the households have a combined income less than $50,000.
- A mortgage to The Working Centre allowed them to purchase The Water Street House, a place of welcome and support for people who use substances. The house will offer communal supports that help people feel part of a community, finding ways of inclusion over separation. It will be a place of support that provides harm reduction, primary care, addiction support, and nine bedrooms for those most affected by the injection drug crisis.
- KWCF's impact investment in a promissory note with Windmill Microlending will help internationally trained newcomers restart their careers in Canada. Lowinterest loans of up to $10,000 are provided to individuals to help retrain their field of work and get employment in Canada. 74.5% of loan recipients are working in their field by the time they repay their loan, and loan repayment rates are at 97%.
- KWCF is the lead investor in a community bond offered by House of Friendship, with additional opportunities currently available for our community to invest. The expansion of House of Friendship's abstinence-based addiction treatment facility will provide residential treatment for men, day treatment and counselling for men and women, as well as space to respond to our region's future addiction treatment needs.

Social Finance Committee of the Board is formed

KWCF partners with House of Friendship and MaRS Centre for Impact Investing by providing a grant to develop a case study template that will be available to other Waterloo Region charitable organizations considering impact investments

KWCF makes four additional impact investments:

- Loan to Kinbridge Community Association
- Mortgage to The Working Centre
- Promissory note to Windmill Microlending
- Community bond to House of Friendship

Potential goal to commit 10% of assets in KWCF's investment portfolio to impact investments

2018 Funds

Individuals, families, companies, other charitable organizations and municipalities have established funds with Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation.

We provide a variety of fund options to suit their charitable interests, the level of involvement they want in annual granting, and the legacy they want to leave—offering the best vehicle to achieve a Fundholder's unique philanthropic goals.

In 2018, we surveyed our Fundholders, and here is a list of the top 5 reasons why they set up a fund*.

- 1 To ensure an ongoing legacy
- 2 Personal philanthropy
- 3 To support community needs
- 4 KWCF's endowment and investment management expertise
- 5 Ease of administration by partnering with KWCF

of Fundholders would choose to set up a fund with KWCF if they had the opportunity to do it over again.*

KWCF donor bill of rights

Our commitment

It is the vision of KWCF to "make it easy for people to do more good." In keeping with this vision KWCF connects people who care to causes that matter.

We work with Fundholders and Donors who generously entrust donations to support charities in our community and beyond. As a steward of these gifts KWCF is determined to earn and keep the trust and confidence of the community. KWCF commits to this Donor Bill of Rights to ensure that Fundholders, Donors and prospective donors can be confident in knowing that their gifts will be stewarded effectively and efficiently.

KWCF BELIEVES THAT ALL DONORS HAVE THE RIGHT TO:

- Be informed of KWCF's vision, how it intends to use donated resources, and its capacity to use donations effectively for the intended purposes for which they were given.
- Be informed of the identity of those serving on the KWCF Board of Directors and expect that the Board of Directors acts with prudent judgment in executing its responsibilities.
- Have access to KWCF's most recent financial information and annual reports including KWCF's registration number as assigned by Revenue Canada, any information contained in the public portion of KWCF's most recent Information Return as submitted to Revenue Canada, and copies of the most recent Foundation policies and by-laws including this Donor Bill of Rights.
- Be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and confidentiality, to the extent provided by law, and have the right to see their Donor record and challenge its accuracy.
- Receive appropriate acknowledgment and recognition for their gifts, and if requested by the donor, remain anonymous.
- Expect that all relationships with individuals representing KWCF will be professional in nature.

- Be informed if staff, volunteers or any contracted service workers have a relationship or conflict of interest with any grant applicant or application being presented for funding consideration by any fund held at KWCF.
- Ensure that their contact information is not shared outside KWCF without their express permission, and that, should they so desire, they be removed from any mailing lists managed by KWCF.
- Ask questions when making donations and receive prompt, truthful and forthright answers.
- Receive official receipt for income tax purposes within 30 days for the amount of their donation, and for nonmonetary eligible gifts receive an official tax receipt that represents the fair market value of the gift.
- Be encouraged to seek independent advice if KWCF has any reason to believe that a proposed gift might significantly affect the Donor's financial position, taxable income, or relationship with other family members.
- Receive a timely response from either a staff member or Chair of the Board of Directors to a complaint about any matter that is outlined in this Donor Bill of Rights.

Donors

Accumulated donations & legacy leaders

Donors are the charitable leaders in our community.
At Kitchener Waterloo
Community Foundation we make it easy for people to do more good by supporting the causes they care about most.

KWCF is very grateful for the confidence our Fundholders and Donors have in our ability to serve our community—now and into the future.

Donations are received from individuals, companies, other charitable organizations and municipalities. Donors may contribute to endowed funds (funds that are held permanently, or for a specified period of time, usually greater than 10 years), funds for distribution (funds that are held for granting, usually within two years), or to the operations of KWCF and/or specific initiatives we are leading, to assist us in helping the community.

We are pleased to report that total donations for 2018 were approximately 2.1 Million.

Thank you!

We are honoured to be the charity of choice for many members of our community. Due to such generosity, the 2018 Donor List was too large to fit in this report.

Our Donors are important to us, so a full listing of our 2018 supporters over $100 is available for viewing online at www.kwcf.ca/our-donors.

There are several ways to give to Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation. As a Donor, you can choose the type of donation that best meets your financial needs and personal wishes. For more information about types of gifts you can make to the Foundation, please call 519-725-1806 or visit our website at www.kwcf.ca.

2018 Grants

KWCF is focused on creating caring communities where everyone thrives.

Building on our connections and knowledge of the non-profit sector, in partnership with our Fundholders and Donors, we provide grants throughout the year. KWCF helps charitable organizations across our community make a difference by providing them with funds for programs and initiatives, student awards, and much more.

Our granting trend over the past five years has resulted in small annual increases despite the market downturn in 2011 and again in 2018. A number of years ago, KWCF established a granting stabilization policy to build up reserves for each of our funds to allow them to grant in years following a year of lower returns. Due to this forward planning, we are positioned to ensure stable granting in 2019 through the use of Stabilization Reserves for each of our funds.

Operating costs are funded primarily by fees levied on assets under management. However, the Foundation also received sponsorship funding for program-related activities.

In addition, KWCF has established an Accumulated Operating Reserve to help ensure future viability of the Foundation.

In 2018, our Community Grants Program and Barnraising Grants Program focused on the three key priority areas identified through Wellbeing Waterloo Region:

- 1 Affordable Housing where everyone has a place to call home
- 2 Healthy Children and Youth where all children and youth have the foundation they need to thrive and reach their potential
- 3 Social Inclusion where everyone is welcome and can belong

We've chosen to partner with Wellbeing Waterloo Region to actively collaborate to build understanding and to leverage our community's collective knowledge, expertise and resources to achieve the best results. If you would like to learn more about the work we are engaged in, visit www.wellbeingwaterloo.ca.

2018 Financial results

We acknowledge the stewardship responsibility that has been entrusted to us. We take an unwavering pledge to meet our community's expectations for ethical, trustworthy, accountable and professional behaviour.

As of December 31, 2018, KWCF manages an investment portfolio of $97,293,837. This includes Foundation-owned assets of $74,461,606 and an additional $22,832,231 that we manage on behalf of five charities.

INVESTMENT RETURNS (%)

KWCF Investments

In 2018, KWCF's return on pooled investment funds was -0.4% versus the benchmark return of -2.2%. (The benchmark combines performance results from the S&P/TSX Composite Index, the MSCI World (Net) Index and the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index.) Our experienced Investment Committee once again managed the portfolio to exceed the benchmark, with an ongoing goal to maximize returns while protecting the capital of our investments over the long term.

We are pleased to report that over the past 10 years, our portfolio has averaged 9.0%, and since inception in 1984, KWCF's investment return has averaged 9.4%.

Additional Financial Background

The Investment Committee is guided by the Investment Policy Statement. KWCF uses a "specialty" investment management structure that assigns asset class responsibility to different investment managers. An Investment Committee with senior-level investment management expertise reviews performance using a benchmark performance measurement system.

The Committee reviews the target investment portfolio mix regularly and controls allocations to each asset class using the following asset mix targets:

2018 Assets by Fund Type

Donor Advised Funds 44.7%

Community Fund24.4%

• Field of Interest Funds 18.0%

Designated Funds 12.9%

What is the Community Fund?

When you donate to Kitchener Waterloo Community Foundation, you have the option of donating to any of the funds, including the Community Fund. The funds in the Community Fund are "unrestricted," which means that KWCF is able to respond to grant requests from charities across Waterloo Region. A volunteer committee comprised of local residents reviews the grant applications to recommend how these funds are distributed.

The foundation of my Community Starts with you and me-

starts with you and memore than charity it's the activity of being engaged with the people in this place we call our region.

Together we score

when we explore ways to innovate philanthropy and build a legacy while welcoming all voices ...

with inclusivity.

My foundation is "Making It Easy for People to Do More Good" in my neighbourhood
... and BEYOND.

And it's time to act, with impact.

Let's make a pact to ideate, co-create and participate.

Join us and collaborate.

With change catalyzed we realize our dreams for today and tomorrow and, it all gets built ... ON OUR FOUNDATION.
